

Dr Thomas George

Psychiatrist

Dr Thomas George is a Specialist Psychiatrist who has been in private practice based at the North West Specialist Centre, Everton Park, Brisbane for over ten years. After qualifying in Medicine from the University of Madras, India, he obtained his post graduate qualifications (Diploma in Psychological Medicine and Member of the Royal College of Psychiatrists) in Psychiatry from the United Kingdom. He then moved to Australia and took up a full time Psychiatry position at The Prince Charles Hospital, Brisbane.

At that stage he obtained the Fellowship of the Australian and New Zealand College of Psychiatrists and held the role of the Director of Psychiatry at The Prince Charles Hospital for several years until 1998.

When Pine Rivers Private Hospital was acquired by Healthscope in 2002, he was appointed the Director of Psychiatry at this hospital and has continued in the role of Medical Director, as well as maintaining his full-time private practice based at the North West Specialist Centre.

Over the years Dr George has also maintained an active interest in teaching students and has given numerous lectures at conferences and continuing medical education events in the areas of mood disorders and perinatal psychiatry.

Dr George is a General Adult Psychiatrist and has a special interest in and passion for the full range of perinatal psychiatric disorders. He also has extensive experience in the management of mood disorders and is happy to receive referrals for the assessment and management of those patients with different forms of mood disorders.
